CHDI announces winners of annual drawing

Uvalde resident Hector Blanco took the grand prize of a custom-built barbecue pit and trailer as a result of the Community Health Development Incorporated (CHDI) prize drawing held at 6 p.m. on March 24 at Our Health/Nuestro Centro de Salud, 200 S. Evans.

The pit and trailer were donated by Jan Elliott in memory of her late husband, Tex Elliott, and built by Texas Best Pits.

"We are happy to support CHDI's continuing health initiatives in our community," said Jan Elliott. "While only one individual won a custom-built barbecue pit, many will be beneficiaries of exemplary healthcare. A win-win for Uvalde."

Second-prize winner of a GoPro Camera was Gracie Fuentes. Third-prize winner of a Michael Kors bag was Daniel Neutze. Fourth-prize winner of a Kate Spade bracelet and earring set was Anthony Silva.

CHDI netted $10,000 toward the support of CHDI's Center for Community Wellness campus at 908 S. Evans St. in Uvalde.

"CHDI is appreciative of Ms. Jan Elliott, Texas Best Pits and the entire community for the years of support with our annual fundraiser. A healthy community is a prosperous community," said Rachel A. Gonzales-Hanson, chief
